

PEOPLE SYSTEMS FOR FOUNDERS

Your onboarding is not complete

when the laptop arrives

Built from four startup people functions

DAY 1

Remove basic uncertainty

Role, access, immediate priorities, working norms, and the person who can unblock them.

WEEK 1

Build the right relationships

A new hire needs context from the people their work affects, not a calendar full of introductions.

Ask where the friction is

The first useful feedback question is often: What is still harder than it should be?

DAY 30

Compare reality with the role

What is clear now? What changed? Where does support or expectation need to be reset?

THE OWNER

The manager owns the experience

HR can build the system. It cannot outsource the relationship between a manager and a new hire.

Good onboarding replaces guessing

with clarity
